

martin is back!

To say Anne Albert's line Martin was an office-wide Lucky obsession is no exaggeration—three years after she closed her storefront in Manhattan's East Village, we still fondly reminisce about her clever basics (and continue to wear them into the ground). Now she's relaunching and online. "I like the idea of having a mini wardrobe ready to go, made up of pieces that easily look different depending on what you combine them with," says Albert of her 10-piece capsule collection, which includes a few of her greatest hits. Here, our absolute favorites.

The new L.A.-based denim label Current/Elliott is pretty special and can best be summed up by this fabulous

DENIM HOODIE.

It feels fresh, it's unmistakably cute, and it's almost unbearably soft.
